

Dwight L. Fitch, MD

Dr. Dwight Fitch is specially trained in advanced radiation therapy techniques including: High Dose Rate Brachytherapy, Intensity Modulated Radiation Therapy, and Image Guided Radiation Therapy. He is the author of many scientific articles published in peer-reviewed journals and has spoken at multiple medical conferences. However, Dr. Fitch's patients are the focus of his concern and attention. He is committed to utilizing cutting-edge technology to serve patients with compassion and kindness.

Education

University of Michigan
BS, Chemical Engineering
Ann Arbor, MI, 1997

Medical Degree

University of Michigan Medical School
Ann Arbor, MI, 2001

Interests

Prostate, Breast, Lung, Colorectal, Head & Neck Malignancies

Awards and Honors

Dow Chemical Premier Scholar, Evans Scholars Foundation Scholarship

Current and Past Positions

Current Position

21st Century Oncology - Radiation Oncologist
Bradenton, FL

Professional Associations

American College of Radiology
American College of Radiation Oncology
American Medical Association
American Society for Therapeutic Radiology and Oncology
National Medical Association
American Brachytherapy Society